

PGME Housing Application for Short Term Mandatory Rotation

I have read the University of Saskatchewan PGME Housing Guidelines and agree to the requirements as outlined in this document. Please note that housing will not be arranged if this box is not checked.

Please note that if a resident submits their housing request to PGME, and then chooses to find alternate accommodations after housing has been reserved, they will not be reimbursed for the alternative housing costs.

Deadline to submit application to PGME office:

Residents who do not submit the application by the deadline will need to secure their own housing and apply for reimbursement.

Residents, or their guests, who incur damage or additional cleaning charges during their stay at these rental properties must reimburse the landlord directly for these costs.

Landlords typically contact residents approximately one week prior to the arrival date to provide location details and check-in instructions.

- Change to arrival date: Residents are responsible for contacting the landlord and the PGME office no later than 14 days prior to their arrival date with any changes to their arrival date. Residents are responsible for any additional costs incurred by PGME if they do not provide notice of changes to their arrival date. The only exception is a delayed arrival due to illness or an unanticipated personal situation.
- Change to departure date: Residents are responsible for contacting the landlord and the PGME office about changes to their departure date at least 14 days prior to departure. Residents are responsible for any additional costs incurred by PGME if they do not provide notice of changes to their departure date. Requests to extend the departure date may not be possible if the suite has been reserved for another tenant.
